FOR RETREAT GUESTS

RETREAT.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS

Located in scenic Woodstock, Illinois, approximately 50 miles northwest of Chicago, Loyola's Retreat and Ecology Campus provides a serene setting for overnight retreats, day meetings, team building, and community events. Encompassed by 98 acres of prairies, savannas, woodlands, wetlands, and ponds, Loyola's Retreat and Ecology Campus provides a peaceful setting that serves as place for spiritual and intellectual growth and allows guests to connect through the mind, body, and spirit.

Loyola's Retreat and Ecology Campus is open year-round and offers comfortable meeting spaces, housing accommodations, on premise catering and dining hall, a challenge course, culinary team building events, hiking trails, basketball/tennis courts, a chapel, and much more!

We have a fundamental guiding principle of conservation on our campus by reducing, reusing, and recycling. Loyola is committed to restoring the maintaining the biodiversity of our campus and invites you to join in our mission of sustainability, conservation, and restoration during your stay with us.
