

Sociology Minor

In choosing elective courses in their undergraduate program, students may wish to take a minor sequence in Sociology. They may do this by completing five courses in Sociology in addition to the 101 course (or another 100-level class).

Of those five courses, only one more may be a 100-level class, and only three credit hours of the internship (SOCL 380) may be counted toward the minor. Two transfer courses may be counted toward the minor.

Any courses taken for a minor in Sociology may be applied to the Department's major requirements, if the student should decide to take sociology as a major.

Required Courses	When Taken	Status*
SOCL 101 (Sociological Perspectives or other 100-level class)
Elective Courses (15 hours)	When Taken	Status*
May count only one semester of Sociology 380 and one 100-level course. Only two courses (six semester hours) will be accepted in transfer credit toward the minor.
